TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

Anticipating the holiday season, Mrs. J. K. Aven, President of Twentieth Century Club entertained at her home with a beautiful Christmas party at the regular Twentieth Century Club meeting day, Tuesday, Dec. 17th. Mrs. Orman Kimbrough was co-hostess at this event and she and Mrs. Aven greeted each guest as they arrived. The rooms of the home were beautifully decorated in seasonal colors. A sparkling Christmas tree was arranged in the spacious reception hall. A smaller tree equally as exquisite in decoration, graced the upper hall way.

The living room featured charming wreaths and Christmas candles. In the dining room candles and Christmas greenery adorned the mantle. The buffet featured the candles placed to reflect stars arranged artistically on the mirror.

Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt presided very graciously over the afternoon's program, introducing the guests on the program and welcoming the several guests of the club.

The very interesting program was varied. Rev. Mr. Lee, pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church, gave, "The Olden Wise Man," this deeply spiritual reading was wonderfully given by Mr. Lee and certainly it was appreciated as a Christmas message by everyone present.

Miss Lottie Aven, daughter of the home, chose two drama selections, "Paderewski," "Minned," and arrangement of "Silent Night." These were played beautifully by this talented young musician.

Mrs. J. C. Crook, acting Santa Claus, distributed gifts from the Christmas tree. Each guest received a small though appreciated gift.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments attractively designed to reflect the Christmas motif. The beautiful plate contained salad, dried wafers, fruitcake with whipped cream and coffee. An adorable little Santa figure adorned the plate.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Liles, Mrs. W. F. Martin and Mrs. Bill Saunders enjoyed the hospitality of the two charming hostesses and meeting with club members.

After a visit in the home of their daughter, Mrs. L. S. McKnight and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sigstrunk have gone to Paducah for a visit with another daughter, Mrs. W. A. Allen.

Mrs. Thomas Rose visited her sister, Mrs. C. L. Bennett and family in North Carrollton Wednesday afternoon.

DINNER AND THEATRE PARTY TALBERT YEAGER 25TH BIRTHDAY

The attractive home of Mrs. Talbert Yeager presented a most interesting scene Wednesday evening, when at six o'clock ten young friends of Talbert, Jr., arrived to be his guests at a birthday dinner party. The home was decorated beautifully with seasonal colored lights and greenery. The dining room and the dinner featured a charming Christmas motif. Young Talbert received many lovely gifts on this, his twentieth birthday. The hostess served a delicious dinner to the boys, and later took them to the picture show. The guest list included: Bobby Binkley, Joe Boone, Frank Davidson, "Big" Harter, Terrell Richardson, Jimmie Shaw, Joe Talbert, Harmon Tillman, H. J. Thomas, and Billy Yeager.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Saturday afternoon, December 14, sweet little Ada Joyce Greaver celebrated her seventh birthday at the lovely century home of her grandpa, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Singleton.

After playing several games the children enjoyed refreshments of delicious ice cream and birthday cake. Each little guest received a delightful bag of candy.

Assisting Mrs. Greaver were two friends, Mesdames E. B. Scott and Bernard Norris.

DELICIOUS DINNER

On Tuesday evening of this week a deliciously planned lunch dinner was given in the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Paschall.

The Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations of the living room and dining room.

Cherry cake, Santa Claus, and the peace at the table.

Those enjoying this pleasant event were Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Mistrot, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Paschall. Contributed.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

Mrs. George Grant and Mrs. Harry Adams were hostesses to members of their Church Auxiliary on Monday afternoon at the home of the former, on South Street, entertaining with a Christmas social. Lovely Christmas decorations brightened the reception rooms.

Mrs. Adams presided graciously during a most interesting program, based on a Christmas story of the Wise Men and their gifts.

At the close of the program the hostesses served a beautiful plate containing two kinds of sandwiches, cake and coffee.

Mesdames J. E. Cooley and E. L. DeLozier were hosts in Memphis on Saturday last.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY

On Monday evening, the charming country home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Youngblood was the scene of delightful interest when Mrs. Youngblood and Mrs. H. D. Lane entertained at bridge.

The home was in gala holiday attire with beautiful Yuletide decorations arranged throughout. The living room featured a beautiful Christmas tree; arranged wreaths and hemlock roping were effectively arranged and tied with large red satin paper bows. Many red and white and blue lights gleamed through the branches of the Christmas tree, and over the arch between the living room and dining room, tiny colored lights gleamed.

In this attractive setting, Mrs. Youngblood and Mrs. Lane greeted their guests. For the occasion Mrs. Youngblood wore an attractive model of combined gold lame and black taffeta. Mrs. Lane, a lovely dinner dress in blue, Miss Biegle, Wilkins, sister of Mrs. Youngblood, was attired in an attractive black dress. She graciously assisted the hostesses throughout the evening. Each guest, upon arrival, received a quaint and very lovely Yuletide corsage made of silvered hemlock foliage tied with red ribbon which held in place two tiny Christmas bells.

Trays of minis, cigarettes and gum were passed to the guests by four lovely girls, Misses Jackie Lane, Bettye Rule, Fern Pondergrass and Grace Smith.

Ten tables were arranged in the living and dining room, and many exciting games were enjoyed. At nine thirty scores were compiled and one deal played bingo fashion to determine who would win in the game of chance. Mrs. Leon Geeslin won both high score and the bingo prize. She received a lovely crystal tray and mayonaisse bowl for high score, and a corgie for the bingo prize. Mrs. Kulture received a pair of charming Anglon pictures for consolation.

The hostesses served delectable fruit cake, salted nuts and coffee.

NEW CITIZENS

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Okley, of Oxford, are being greeted as new citizens of Grenada. Mrs. Okley is a sister of Mr. R. L. Smith. Grenada welcomed these splendid citizens. Their son, only recently 14, for Camp U.S. with the Oxford boys and their daughter, Elizabeth, is in Junior College at Senatobia. They will reside at the Griffith home on Main.

CIRCLE MEETS

Circle No. 2 of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. C. C. Penn with twelve members present.

An interesting program was given, presided over by Mrs. Hal Calhoun. The topic was "Joy Gift."

DUPLICATE CLUB

The Duplicate Club members met at the home of Mrs. Rob Brown Tuesday afternoon for games. The display of Christmas decorations further enhanced the charming setting for this group of fashionable attired young matrons.

At intermission, delicious date pudding with hard sauce and coffee were served.

High score was compiled by Mrs. Ben Townes. Second high was a tie score by Mrs. L. E. Noble and Mrs. C. S. Burr.

Mesdames E. R. Prouditt and John Presgrove spent Saturday of last week in Memphis. They were accompanied on their return trip by Duval Prouditt and Sonny Hays, who will spend the holidays here.

The Garden Club is meeting this (Thursday) afternoon in the handsome home of Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt. This is the interesting Christmas meeting so the program will be reported next week.

Mrs. Gertrude Marders spent Wednesday and Thursday at Belhaven College with her daughter, Miss Gene, student there. She went especially to attend the beautiful "White Christmas" program. Gene accompanied her home for a holiday visit.

Misses Audrey Moss and Ouida Chapuis spent Friday in Jackson.

Misses Rowena and Maydel Betz were accompanied by their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Klinka, of Memphis, on Sunday when they visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Betz.

Mr. J. H. Oliver, president of Oliver-Lilly Motor Co. and of Grenada Grocery Co., attended to business affairs in Jackson Tuesday. He was accompanied by his wife and her sister, Mrs. McGanthy and "Sonny" Hays. "Sonny" visited at Millsaps with former classmates.

(Editorial)

Not so long ago "peace on earth and good will toward men" existed over a large part of the world, but now, the golden days of peace have become tarnished and darkened by the corrosive effect of universal hatred. In most of the world man has ceased to love his neighbor. He has become greedy and jealous, or he has become bitter and defiant.

This year Christmas will be only another day in Europe, another day of fear, bloodshed, and hate. Should Christ look upon the earth this year and see how his birthday is being celebrated He would weep, for all the things that He taught had stood for are being cast aside and trampled upon. Jesus gave us the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." If man would but live by this rule there would be no war, no hate or discord in the world. So infinitely is man looking away from Christ and toward war, that both the major warring powers in Europe refused to reply to the Pope's request that there be an armistice on Christmas day.

We should be thankful that it is our privilege to enjoy this day outside of the greedy shell of world hate. Instead of celebrating entirely with unthinking merry-making we should celebrate with a profound gladness that to us belongs the blessing of "Peace on Earth, good will toward men."

CHAPEL PROGRAM

After Mr. Rundle read the Christmas story from Luke, he made a brief talk on keeping the serious side of Christmas in mind as well as the merry-making side.

Then a group of band students, Brandon Anderson, Catherine Herding, Brinker Thrower, S. B. Cowan, Mickey Angevine, John Keeton, Milton McIlwain, Benton Keeton, Frank Matthews, Bobby Weir, O. D. Sprattin, and Billy Farham, under the direction of Mr. Dollarhide took charge of the program with a special selection of songs. The numbers were, "Dixie," "Cotton-Picking Song," "Old Folks At Home," "Old Black Joe," "Hi-Lo," and "Round The Corner."

They say there's nothing quite like uniform to catch the raving feminine eye. If such is the case the raving feminine eye of G. H. S. should have been caught sufficiently Tuesday afternoon. The National Guard turned out en masse to spend a half-hour singing Christmas carols with the High School. Mr. Rundle, Miss Donaldson, the Glee Club, and the student body cooperated to show the boys and Captain Shaw that we really are sending them off with a hearty "God Bless You".

Christmas In America

Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

In these changing days, when black-outs are the order of the night in Europe, how thankful we Americans should be that we have no reason to cover our windows and turn off our street lights at night.

Surely, all of us, will add to the already sufficient light of our towns and of our homes. The brightest and the most artistic electrical displays will adorn our doorways and windows. Thousands will thrill to the beauty and dignity of the homage paid to the King of Kings on his birthday, Christmas.

Children, supervised by interested and indulgent grown folks will walk about our streets singing "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing, 'Glory to the new-born King.'" Choirs will sing the Sanctus and Shepherds abiding their sheep by night. Families will attend church services and later gather about the home to visit their own people. The cafes and in many cases, sorrows, will be laid aside in the peaceful Christmas atmosphere. The American parents, very much like the parents of yesterday will welcome and cling to the children who are at home for an all too brief visit.

How thankful we are for this kind of Christmas. How deep our gratitude is that in this land of freedom this freedom is mixed and cemented into the very fiber of every one of us, that we can worship God through His Son, unmolested and unafraid. How fine it would be if we would carry this gratitude in our hearts all the year making better citizens and better Christians of ourselves.

Good Luck, Boys

Grenada's home company, Headquarters Battery, First Battalion, 144th Field Artillery, left for Camp Blanding, Florida Tuesday of this week.

This is a splendid outfit, composed of selected personnel, officered by intelligent, efficient officers, and containing men from representative homes of this community. It is indeed the "home company" of Grenada, as was the Headquarters Company, 140th F. A. in World War No. 1.

Being a parent of one of the boys, we share with the other parents the anxiety that goes with the parting with our sons; and we share with the other parents the knowledge that trained boys are better able to take care of themselves than untrained boys, and that we parents, if by proxy, are contributing our part to the great preparedness program of our nation in its times of imminent danger.

What is ahead of these boys, nobody knows. When they will return depends entirely upon the length of the emergency. But it is consoling to know that these boys share common interests, that the officers have personal interest in each member, and that they will be taken care of to the extent of the ability of our government.

We are expecting great things of our "home company," a company that Grenada takes great pride in.

Time To Stop Piddling

The time has come, in fact it is long past, when this nation with not a friend on earth, must stop all of the piddling and procrastination that have characterized past and present preparedness work and get busy.

Defeated, crushed and humiliated France once a proud nation, furnished a tragic example of a nation whose piddling footsteps we are now following. France was on one side of the Rhine, Germany was on the other. In France the leaders preached more pay for less work, shorter hours, the more abundant life, pampering of workers and all of the enervating stuff that saps the strength of any nation, however virile. Germany, on the other side of the Rhine, worked long hours, became accustomed to more work for less pay, learned self-denial, became strong and virile. When the test of these two philosophies of life came, Germany walked through France as a circus rider jumps thru a paper hoop.

The very things that make America great: freedom of action, big pay, short hours, abundant leisure, pampering and coddling of workers, are undermining our national economy. We read of delays in camp construction; we read of huge deficiencies in war materials; we read of inferior planes and too few of them; we experienced a three-months delay in even the beginning of our program while Congress piddled and debated and argued and played politics. We read of airplane factory workers striking and delaying even the snail-like production line.

Uncle Sam does not ask the young man whether he would like to work for a dollar a day in the army; he does not ask him whether he would prefer a eight-hour day and a five-day week, or whether he prefers sow belly or bacon. This vital worker, the dollar a day soldier, eats what is given him, wears the things issued, goes when he is told and returns when he is bidden. He is asked nothing. His wishes and his desires and preferences are not consulted. He is ORDERED to do. The soldier is powerless unless guns and ammunition are placed in his hands, unless planes and pilots are provided to blast the enemy and to spy out the terrain ahead of him, unless tanks, tents, supply trucks, and the thousands of other necessary pieces of equipment are provided by the workers in the factories behind the lines.

America, above all else, needs a strong hand. It needs somebody with the guts and the power to speed up production, to tell stubborn elements in labor's ranks where to head in. It needs a man to tell the saboteurs (posing as workers wanting more pay and shorter hours) to work, get in the army or go to prison.

When a disastrous fire is in progress, would the fire chief stop to argue with the firemen about shorter hour and more pay, or would he say "Get the hell out of here, grab that hose, turn on that water."

Piddling and coddling MUST stop, else America will join France in the columns of the "has-beens."

Me and the GCW.

No, Santa, There Aint No Virginia

No, Santa, there aint no Virginia. Virginia was a figment of the imagination of some fellow in a New York newspaper office. This fellow not only produced a fictitious Virginia, and a fictitious letter, and a fictitious reply, but has bedeviled linotype operators ever since.

Five Reasons Why

You'll find IT PAYS to trade with your neighbor in Grenada during the Christmas shopping season.

Why? . . . Because . . .

YOU GET friendly personal service in Grenada stores.

YOU GET quality merchandise cheap or cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. Grenada stores offer real bargains in standard, nationally-advertised products.

YOU GET quicker, more convenient service. You can shop by telephone. You can use your charge account. Most stores maintain quick free delivery service. Every merchant personally guarantees what he sells you.

YOU GET more convenient shopping . . . No crowds. Plenty of time to pick and choose what you want.

Besides, dollars spent in Grenada come right back to you.

Many Christmas gifts are pictured and priced in the editions of The Grenada County Weekly. Watch the ads in The Grenada County Weekly this week and next week until Christmas. In fact, get the habit, as hundreds already have, of watching for bargains weekly advertised in The Grenada County Weekly.

Sane Advice From Supt. Rundle

The following is a copy of a letter sent by Superintendent John Rundle of the City Schools to the parents of the pupils of that school. It contains such fine sentiment, and such good advice that we take the liberty of reproducing it in full:

Mr. Rundle's letter follows:

We are wishing you a happy and contented Christmas and a New Year of continued happiness and prosperity. If we would count our blessings now and then, one by one, we would all find that the God that gives and the God that lives has been more generous to us than we realize.

We hope you are pleased with the progress of your child or children in our city schools. If there have been disappointments, we hope that in the year ahead these disappointments may be remedied. We are always glad for parents to come and talk with us about the training and the preparation for life that the school offers and stands for. We want you to know our teachers, particularly the teachers of your children.

Of course you recognize the importance of children being regular and punctual in attendance, and in this connection we ask that where possible children not be permitted to come too early in the morning. We recognize the fact that some children must come early in order to get a ride to school and we do not object to this.

We ask that you encourage and permit your children to be part of the school activities that give variety to their lives. Membership in the land is worth far more than it costs. Playing basketball, baseball, football and other physical activities will make our children more fit to carry on. In fact, the purpose of the school is to develop well-rounded men and women, mentally, physically and spiritually. Many fine men and women attribute their beginning to Grenada City Schools. We hope your children will be among them later on.

The Food Stamp Plan

On December 11, 1940, Senator Harrison, together with the Mississippi Delegation now present in Washington, including Congressmen Wall Doxey, John Rankin, Aaron Ford, and Bill Colmer, conferred at length with Hon. Phillip F. Maguire, Assistant Administrator, and H. C. Albin of the Surplus Marketing Administration, relative to the Food Stamp Program in Mississippi. The Mississippians assured the representatives of the Surplus Marketing Administration of their wholehearted cooperation and enthusiastic interest in the program. Senator Harrison stated:

"When I conferred with President Roosevelt the other night, I told him that the Food Stamp Plan was one of the most popular programs of the Administration, and that ways and means must be found to secure additional funds for this program."

Mr. Maguire assured the Delegation of their appreciation of the cooperation shown by the various agencies in Mississippi, but stated that:

"It is going to be impossible with the funds we have available for this fiscal year to consider expanding the program to all or a major portion of the Counties of the State, but if the necessary arrangements can be made with the State Department of Public Welfare, local Departments of Public Welfare and other interested groups we hope to be able to expand to a few more Counties during the next few months."

Mr. Maguire further stated that:

"Under the cooperative agreement the Surplus Marketing Administration has with the Mississippi State Welfare Department, the case workers of that agency must undertake to prepare the necessary certifications and re-certifications for the stamp plan which frequently requires that they assign extra case work personnel to a local area until this initial job can be completed. This is especially true in connection with the great number of WPA Awaiting Assignment and Commodity Only cases which have heretofore received direct distribution. Our experience has demonstrated that a working relationship to the stamp plan on the part of welfare agencies, especially their ability to undertake the additional administrative and case work which the plan requires, is perhaps the most essential element in the proper functioning of the plan in any local area. To place unreasonable burdens on the welfare agencies in terms of too rapid expansion would be unwise practice. It must, therefore, be borne in mind that the State Department of Public Welfare has some limitations which would be a factor in handling certain phases of the program that will hold up the expansion as we would like, together with the fact that we are also limited in our own funds."

It has been suggested that the city make a comprehensive survey of its water lines and its sewer lines, form a WPA project of the buildings of these lines, borrow the necessary sponsor's part by pledging part of the receipts from the water collections. This is a thought-provoking suggestion.

Cas Heath, Sr. Writes Interestingly of His Trip to Florida

competing with the other dogs. The races are legal in Florida and betting is permissible. Inasmuch as these were only schooling races, there were many children. Minors are not permitted at official races.

Friday morning we went to the U. S. Naval Air station being erected in Miami. There are long stretches of white frame buildings and much sand. It will no doubt be lovely when completed. In order to get through the entrance gate and by the guard, one must give credentials. At a nearby window they give one small celluloid buttons bearing numbers, which must be returned after any business matter is completed. If there is a passenger without business, they must wait at the entrance gate.

Leaving the Naval Station, we went to Hialeah Race Track. It is second to none in the world. It is really a showplace of Miami with its beautiful track, tall, stately royal palm trees bordering the roadway; flowers everywhere; a lake in the center of the track and several hundred flamingoes (pink, tall-legged birds that habitate in Central America). They have been brought here, there are also black and white swans. In the afternoon, I took a jaunt to Miami Beach for a view of the Atlantic Ocean and to look up a friend.

We drove over to the beach to view the Miami skyline at night, with its many, many lights; both street illumination and also buildings and homes. It looks like it is dressed up with some Christmas occasion. I am told it always looks that way with so many colored advertising sign lights. It is the Christmas season and the downtown stores are decorated for the occasion, even beyond description.

Saturday morning, after breakfast I went to Bay Front Park to see the Santa Claus performances for the children. They all told Santa what they wanted, and there was a program in his honor.

In the afternoon, I went to Miami Beach and took a trip up Indian Creek in the sight-seeing boat "Nikka." It is a two hour excursion, and one passes the front of all the magnificent homes of "them who has, gifts." In other words, the "yacht-owners" who park their yachts in front of their homes on Indian Creek. It is an inland waterway between the Ocean and Biscayne Bay running the full length of Miami Beach. They say when one owns a yacht, that the word "expense" is not in their vocabulary. Perhaps so.

Saturday night, for once, I was a spectator and not "behind the counter,"

It was my turn to look on and watch others. Miami was seething with people starting, I imagine, their Christmas shopping. By the time the stores closed at 9 p. m. I was somewhat fatigued from browsing around through the shops; and then hadn't seen half.

Sunday morning on the way to the Beach to drive up and down to the house after house, each vying with the to see which could be the more beautiful. There are streets and streets of them. We stopped going over and went through a large ocean-going steamer, "The Chatham," which piles from Boston to Miami. It looks like a "town on water." It was very interesting to me for I had never seen so large a ship.

In the afternoon, I took a "dip" in the ocean. The wind was high and the waves a bit rough—probably four or five feet high. Anyway, they buffeted me about without any respect for age. I had my feet in the ocean, though!

We saw the yacht-basin where hundreds of deep-sea fishing boats are docked. They came in with their "haul." All had been out in the gulf stream fishing, some ten miles or more. These boats are by their owners used for taking fishing parties out deep sea fishing at a rate of $5. per day per person. Its a regular business in Miami and a sport for the fish-minded tourists.

Next, I saw the Clipper planes coming in from Havana and Puerto Rico. The Pan American Airways have a station here and it is beautiful. There is a large dining room, waiting room; customs-inspection rooms; bar; and a good many offices and other rooms. The Clipper planes have numerous wing spread and are four motor-affair. They carry some twenty-five passengers, and pounds of luggage as well as mail. They alight on the water, there are men in bathing suits who swim into the water and fiver wheels to the planes, then they are pulled in by a tractor. By this, you know they have flown from their original bases with nothing other than pontoons. It is interesting to see the customs officials search the travelers' luggage, for narcotics or any other contraband articles. Each has to make a declaration of what is being brought over, and is allowed about $100.00 worth of import exemption. One young girl had to get $6.25 extra from her parents who were waiting for her arrival. The charge over $100.00 is high. It takes about 2 hours to fly from Miami to Havana, and the cost from Miami to either Havana and Nassau is $29.00 round trip. One thinks nothing of "hopping" across the waters to either place.

Miami has recently done away with its street cars and buses are in use. It is the quietest place for so much automobile traffic. On each traffic light below the color, the word "quiet" shows. No one honks his horn unless

It is absolutely necessary. I imagine I heard six honks while there. I suppose this was necessary because of so many downtown hotels. Streets are all one-way, except Flagler, the main street. That is two-way until one gets to the very center of downtown Miami.

Saturday, December 7th, while at Tampa, Fla., I visited my good friend and a former Grenada boy, Campbell McLean, and his lovely wife with their three fine boys, while in his beautiful home, enjoyed a lovely six o'clock dinner, which was most graciously served by his fine wife, this was most enjoyable, we also enjoyed their company in a drive up the Tampa road along the coast line which is most beautiful. Campbell enjoys a nice law practice in Tampa.

I also had the pleasure of spending a short time with his younger brother, Russell McLean at St. Petersburg during Armistice Day which was likewise enjoyable.

I had so little time that there were many things I did not see; and some I saw hurriedly. I did not get to see much of Coral Gables; that, I will see better next time.

Among the unusual sights, was the automatic, or what I call "mystery," doors. They automatically open as one approaches by human contact in some peculiar fashion. It gives a rather weird feeling to step up and suddenly have a door open, then close just as easily with no effort on the part of the person passing through.

Miami has exceeded every place in the last few years in its building program. They build all night and all day even on Sundays in some instances. A huge hotel was erected in ninety days in just such a way. In Miami, all buildings are stucco, many with white tile roofs; and all the newer buildings or hotels, office buildings and home follow the stream-line mode of building. The Dupont Office Building in downtown Miami, which was erected about a year ago at a cost of $1,000,000.00, is beautiful and it follows the stream-line architecture.

Verily, one hasn't seen Florida until they see Miami!

Returned to St. Petersburg Monday. Forgot to mention about going into that new, large home fronting on Indian Creek with marble floors, circular marble stairway, and furnished with mahogany furniture. This also had its "yacht" parked in front, whose owner had just arrived in Miami Beach from Chicago, coming down Mississippi River to New Orleans, then rounding the peninsula. They had left the yacht and flown back to Chicago on two different occasions then flown down again and boarded the yacht: the first on account of illness in the family; and the second to cast their vote. It took three weeks to make the trip by land waterway.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

The beauty and gaiety of the Christmas season decoration and entertainment has provided the theme for several lovely socials the past week.

The highlight of the past week-end occurred on Saturday evening when the management and owners of the Hosiery Mill staged a beautiful supper dance at the Community House. Fully three hundred guests were privileged to enjoy this delightful affair. Mack Rags orchestra of Memphis furnished the music for the dance. His men introduced numerous novelty numbers much to the delight of all present.

Divisions for those not dancing, such as bingo games and attending the lucky number contest also being spectators in the ball room, afforded pleasure for quite a few of those present.

The Community House was simply aglow with Christmas decorations. The ball room featured small Christmas trees and lovely wall decorations. The most impressive of these being an electric "Merry Christmas" surrounded by beautiful holly. Mary Elizabeth McNeill supervised the decorations.

Miss Mae Caldwell presided in the dining room. She was charmingly attired in a black velvet dinner dress, choosing a corsage of fragrant garden-lilies to further enhance her costume.

After the serving of supper buffet style, the lucky number was drawn for the grand prize Christmas gift. Mrs. Bill Bailey, the lucky one, received a portable radio.

This lovely social will long be remembered by this group of splendid young people as one of the most joyous affair of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Long spent Sunday at Lake Comorant with their sister, Mrs. J. P. Shannon. Mrs. Shannon's son is ill with pneumonia and Mr. and Mrs. Long went especially because of that.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuhne are now residing in the Max McCombs home on Fairfield. Mr. Kuhne is connected with the budget department at 751 Service Station.

Mr. Talbert Thomas, of Cruger, spent Sunday last here with his parents, Hon. and Mrs. J. T. Thomas.

Letters To Santa

Some new jokes, Jack Dyre.

A plug of "Mule," John Cannon.

Dear Santa Claus:

We consider that we have been an excellent class this semester and hope that you feel the same way. Here is a list of some of the things we want: The end of school, more entertainments by Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen our Senior privileges, fewer history tests, more ball games, fewer English examinations, more holidays, the end of Saturday teaching, a big snow so we can't come to school, Hitler whipped, do away with Senior Book reports after Christmas, more study periods and last of all Santa bring us lots of commodity apples and oranges for Christmas.

We aren't asking for much and we want other children to have a little bit. Please bring Mr. McBride a stocking filled with candy.

Your loving students,
Seniors of Holcomb High School.

Unless interested citizens cooperate with the sheriff's office, the sheriff is almost powerless to do anything with the hicker business.

DUCK HILL FLASHES

Mrs. M. S. Walker

There was a beautiful Christmas tree at the Church school for the Methodist and Presbyterian children Sunday morning and old Santa was there in person, assisted by Miss Myrtle Moore in giving out the presents and when he asked some of the sweet little children what he must bring them, they began to enumerate everything they could think of—less their hearts we hope not a one will be disappointed.

People are beginning to come in now to spend the happy time ahead with home folks. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams are here from Dallas, Texas, to be with their mother, Mrs. E. H. Williams and uncle, Dr. G. Y. Gillespie and family.

An awfully good looking young lady was here from Winona a few days ago and called to see Dr. Oliver. He was "out" so she left a message with us for the Dr. When he gets a message from a lady he blushes just like a new baby or an old fashioned sixteen year old girl. Mr. Monroe McKilken, you and Dr. Clanton can both remember how they used to blush.

Our little bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson, seem perfectly satisfied with their new home on our "What-Not" and are we pleased to have them permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dick Taylor and lovely young daughter, Mary Ann are here from Detroit, Michigan, or some place near it, to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor and others of the family and friends.

Did you ever hear our Mayor, T. P. (better known as "Pat") Carter laugh? It's just about the holdest laugh we ever heard. A real expression of merriment and he should have a record made so the thousands of Radio listeners could hear—and also have some advertiser ask why he felt so good, then his reply that he "takes Carter's little liver pills," "Tums" or "cats" Campbell soup or something—what a fortune could be made for Mrs. "Pat" and all the little Pats.

Mr. Charley Campbell said he was due on a big hug for the write-up we gave him about his picture—We told him we would excuse the hug if he would kill a pig and bring us a back bone with the pig tail still attached. It has always been hard for us to decide which end of the pig we liked best, the backbone and pig tail or the jaw and tongue. Very often tails win.

We read where "The Stork flew by and left" or "Born to Mr. and Mrs."—and we heard over the radio that there were twenty-three thousand babies born in the United States this year. If these little bundles of joy and gladness knew how much trouble there was in this old world they would stay in heaven right where they came from.

Miss Sara Hill, of Eupora, spent the week-end with her aunt, Miss Bessie Curry and father, Mr. E. S. Hill.

Miss Rosebud Sykes, of Washington, D. C., spent Monday night with her friend, Mrs. A. W. Kingsland. She was en-route to Carrollton to spend Christmas with her aunts, Mrs. Billups and Mrs. Conger.

Mrs. Rosa Conger came from Carrollton Sunday and visited her cousin, Miss Curry while awaiting the arrival of her niece, Miss Sykes from Washington.

We are leaving for Collins Sunday (we hope) so there will be no "Flash" from Duck Hill until after Christmas.

Dear Santa:

I want you to bring me a doll and some candy and a little red cap and I want you to remember a little friend named James Hodges. He is just a friend of mine.

Your friend,

GLADYS ASHMORE

Suppose Grenada did not have Belgrade, the Fair Company's successor, The Plant, the oil mill and compress Oliver-Hilly and the other aggressive auto dealers, Grenada Industries, Allen Cooperative Company, Grenada State Company, and many other enterprises that employ Grenada county labor and bring in "foreign" money—suppose that. Then thank your God that Grenada has these things and is not dependent entirely upon agricultural products raised in this county.

CHRISTMAS CANDY RECIPES

(Velma Neely Home, Deen, Aiken)
Christmas candies—Who doesn't like them, especially the kind made at home?

Here is a good cream roll:

1 cup sugar, 2 cups cream, 1 cup syrup, 1 cup thin cream. Cook until a firm ball is formed in cold water. Pour into a bowl and cover with wax paper. Scrape the sides of the bowl with a spatula. Let stand 24 hours. Roll in room temperature. Beat cream, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup chopped pecans, 1 cup crystallized fruit. Continue working with the hands until you can mold to a roll. Now cook the filling as follows: Cook 1 cup sugar with 1 1/2 cup water and 1 teaspoon corn syrup until it starts a hair, then add 2 eggs, 2 egg whites until very stiff. Beat into that 3 tablespoons sugar. Now pour the boiling syrup slowly into egg whites. Add 1 drop of almond, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Spread on the roll. For variety you will find corn flakes, rice flakes and bran as well as interesting addition to the mixtures. Your crystallized fruit dipped in granulated sugar and color will add color and interest to the platter.

CHRISTMAS CANDY SUPREME

1/2 envelope gelatin, 2 squares chocolate, 3 cups sugar, 1 cup sour cream, 1/2 cup Sultana raisins, 1/2 cup candied cherries, 1/4 cup English walnuts, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Soak gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water for 10 minutes. Melt chocolate in saucepan placed in larger saucepan containing boiling water. Add sugar and sour cream alternately while stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and let boil until mixture forms a soft ball when tied in cold water. Remove from fire and add gelatin and when it has dissolved add cinnamon, raisins, cherries, cut in small pieces, add nut meats. Beat until creamy and turn into buttered tins, having mixture about one and 1/4 inches deep. Let remove from pan and cut in slices for serving. The mixture may be put in individual tins, and when molding insert in top of each a sprig of holly. Good fun in this recipe and you will have Souverville Fudge.

Now for just one dessert that is always a favorite in your home for the Christmas season, and that is Charlotte Russe:

For making assemble one and one fourth cups sweet milk, 2 egg yolks, beaten, 2 tablespoons sugar, one eighth teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 tablespoons gelatin, 1 1/4 cup cold water, 2 egg whites beaten, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1/2 pint double cream, one dozen lady fingers, separated, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Salt milk. Mix egg yolks with sugar and salt; add gradually to milk, cooking in double boiler until mixture slightly thickens. Add gelatin which has been soaked in cold water 5 minutes. Strain in mixture and fold in egg whites. Set in ice water. Stir or beat with egg beater, scraping from the sides and bottom of the pan until mixture begins to thicken. Sweeten cream with powdered sugar, whip until perfectly blended. Add vanilla last. Line mold with heavy wax paper, arrange lady fingers over bottom and sides, fill with mixture. Chill 3 hours. Unmold and top with whipped cream and bits of Maraschino cherries.

COTTON REPORT

Census report shows that 9070 bales of cotton were ginned in Grenada County, Mississippi from the crop of 1940 prior to Dec. 1, as compared with 7275 bales for the crop of 1939.

Congratulations to the home military company which has "open house" Sunday afternoon. The greatest courtesy was extended each visitor. Everyone was filled to capacity with sandwiches and other good things. The boys put on a good reception.

HOME SHIRTS NEWS

At the school this week from Woods Junior College are Misses Helene, Edna and Jessie Mae and Elwanda Morgan.

Miss Nola Simpson and Mr. Bailey Simpson of Ironton, and Mrs. Albert Franks and three children of Louisville, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hale Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharpe and son, Earl Jr., spent Sunday in Big Creek as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Parker.

We learn with pleasure that the Rev. F. Z. Huffstatter will preach at Pleasant Grove Church Sunday.

Quite a large crowd attended the Christmas Friday considering the bad weather and now we want to thank Mr. Whitaker for his kindness shown the club.

The officers, without the support of the non-drinkers, have a hell of a time trying to enforce the liquor laws. It is most discouraging to them to find that, while folks give lip service to the prohibition laws, their efforts end there.

Too many had niggers. There may be more here, for we read where Memphis police were driving that class from the Bluff City. Not a damn one of them should be permitted to stop here, for we have more than we need already.

DYRE-KENT DRUG COMPANY

DON'T BE MISLED BY CONFUSING OFFERS!

Here are the facts

When you see long discounts or tricky offers don't be misled. Are the prices quoted on first, second, third or fourth line tires?
You don't want the lowest priced tire in town—if it might blow out tomorrow. You don't want a tire "bargain" that has to be replaced in 5000 miles or less.

You do want the most miles, the greatest safety and trouble-free service—at the lowest first cost. . . . That's what we've got!

Get a better deal here—no matter what type or size tire you buy!

Whether you want THE U. S. TIRE, the Royal De Luxe or the Royal Master, America's foremost safety tire, get our deal before you buy any other tire.

AMERICAN CHRISTMAS — 1940

CHRISTMAS was derived from the mediaeval Christes Masse, the mass of Christ, and has been observed in various ways throughout the world for twenty centuries.

CHRISTMAS however, in 1940, means more to Americans than in any previous year. More, because we are NOW among the few peoples who can repeat openly, truthfully and with glad heart the fourteenth verse of the second chapter of Saint Mark:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

AMERICA, where the customs of so many nationalities have met and have been gradually blended into the Christmas with which we are familiar, becomes this year the guardian of the true meaning of Christmas.

Indeed, this is a sacred privilege! But is it not also a sacred privilege to be an American! — Especially so on Christmas, 1940, when freedom, good will, peace and friendships are AGAIN so precious in the hearts and minds of men!

It is likewise a privilege for the Mississippi Power & Light family of more than 1,000 Mississippians to say, in the true American way —

"Merry Christmas, Mississippi!"

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Everybody has decided to try to keep everyone alive on 51 South during Christmas, for Christmas is a bad time to get killed.
We have added about a dozen parcels of the "home company" soldier boys, and we believe we will have 99 percent of them pretty soon. We will have news from the camp written by Corporal Winkler, every week, unless he gets in the guard house.
It is more than a notion seeing one's son going off to war, but this is an experience that millions of parents, through the ages, have passed. There is just something indescribably pathetic about it, and I am not going to try to delude it, for I cannot.

Charlie Kosman, cotton-casser without peer, sent in a check, and this will permit us to enjoy a good Christmas, or buy an extra stack of culps.
Aint they sweet.
I jumped into Red Prisoner's arsenal, and he has just shot his 22 cal. bullets so far. He has some 77 mm shells and a few high explosives yet to fire. They had better take Red to New Orleans and Cuba too on a pleasure trip, for he has a lot of dope.
Sister C. X. Wooten, of Florence, will get the G.W. as a Christmas present from Mrs. Alvin Juchheim. That makes two subscribers at Florence.
The last thing I told my son before he left for the war was that his folks always had good names in the community and that I knew that he would preserve the good name of the tribe, for that's about all we have—a good name.
Dear Santa Claus: Please brings me a mess of sweet potatoes, as it looks like Tommie Rose always forgets them. Harry Greenfield, Editor's note: he ought to tell Mrs. Rose, for she will not forget them.
Another new one that brings us up mighty close to the point where we are going to begin refusing new subscribers is sister L. W. Love, of Jackson, who will get the G.W. as a present from Mrs. Juchheim.
I think I will spend Christmas and several weeks thereafter in the Vets Hospital in Memphis.
Here miss penny love, fine goin 2 and yu the greader county weakly for a christmas present.
Italy is just about knocked out of the war.
Harry Wilson than whom no member takes more interest in Legion affairs recently renewed his subscription. Wilson is really a public spirited fellow.
More power to Britain.
Well, we will have one ad after Christmas anyway, thanks to Lem Boone.
Bring some of your job printing to the place you bring your requests for free publicity. There is nothing in fair about that request.
It must be a grand feeling to be cussed out by a Shelby county sheriff.

WHAT TO GIVE?

why, a PULLMAN chair of course!

How to make this Christmas not just "Christmas" but a memorable, long-to-be-remembered occasion: Give a Pullman chair for the very own personal use of one you love. No gift can give more day-in-and-day-out comfort and pleasure—none can say "Merry Christmas" with more real meaning.

PULLMAN First Choice CHAIRS

FIRST CHOICE for CHRISTMAS

First choice for Dad! A deep, long, looney Slumber chair with graceful mahogany hand grips for practical wear. Carved mahogany legs. Covered in a fine long life fabric. $3975

For HER!—a hand carved solid mahogany Barrel chair. A chair of finest 18th Century styling. Comfortable and covered in brocatelle. A gift she will cherish. $4975

Just Right!

Why wear yourself out looking? This one for me!

Made by PULLMAN that's all they'll need to know

When they see the PULLMAN name on these gift chairs, they'll know you have been particularly careful in your choice. They know Pullman NATIONALLY ADVERTISED furniture is the aristocrat of quality upholstered furniture, that its tailoring is detail-perfect; that its styling is superb. These chairs are worthy of your most important gift purchase. $5450

A conforming tufted back "lady's chair"—one that Mother would particularly like. Graceful Queen Anne styling; just-right size and comfortable proportions. Covered in appropriate damask.

Every HE-MAN wants a leather chair. A Pullman leather chair in rich, genuine leather is an all-time favorite. This one is covered toughly, durably in a man's way—genuine leather all over (outside, too)—so he won't have to be fussy about the care he gives it. $2975

City Boy Turns Farmer—Brings in the Harvest

DEARBORN, MICH. — He's gained in weight, this Michigan boy. He and 129 other lads from big city streets have averaged a weight gain of 13 pounds by working from spring to fall under healthful conditions.

They have just got in another harvest at Camp Legion and Willow Run and are figuring up the profits on their season's work.

In these two camps Henry Ford has been providing a special opportunity for a certain group of under-privileged boys.

These boys for the most part are selected from applicants who are the sons of men who served our country in the army or navy during the last great war. Ill health or death among these veterans leaves their families in difficult circumstances.

Mr. Ford wanted to help these families by giving boys of 17, 18 and 19 years of age belonging to them an opportunity to make more of their lives.

Ever since the frost left the ground last April these lads have been working two 320-acre tracts of farm land which he provided for them. When the last of the produce is sold there will be approximately $18,000 in earnings to be split in equal shares among the 130 youths, the director of the camps estimates. This will be in addition to the two dollars a day, plus food and lodging each boy received throughout the season.

At camp the boys learn teamwork and self-reliance. Each camp is governed by the boys themselves. They elect a camp leader, keep their own books, market their own produce through roadside stands and wholesale channels.

Now that the season has ended, the boys are free to do anything they wish, but they are offered an opportunity to enroll in the school system at the Rouge plant, or to do plant work at regular salaries.

In starting the camps, Mr. Ford acted in the belief that it is up to business men and industrialists to accept as a social responsibility the problems facing boys who found themselves, through no fault of their own, at loose ends.

Christmas Lighting Contest

Interest in the annual Christmas lighting contest continues to grow, as more and more homes are being decorated and lighted for the holiday season ahead.

The thought has been expressed that if every home in Grenada, had but one colored light, how festive the City Beautiful would appear.

The judges will make their decisions on Monday, December 23. Those who wish to enter the contest still have ample time.

Three prizes will be given by the Mississippi Power and Light Company. (1) Best House Front—Floor Lamp; (2) Best Tree or Shrub—Table Model Lamp; (3) Best Doorway or Window—Table Model Lamp.

The Garden Club is offering a beautiful vase to be given in the discretion of the judging committee.

The power company wishes to announce that for the first time, a lighting contest is being sponsored by them among the Negro residents of Grenada. Three lamps exactly like the ones given the white residents, and for the same kind of decorations, will be given in this contest.

Holcomb Charge

We have already begun our work for another year and the finishing up of the year's work is going to be determined largely by the way we begin. So, may we try and get a good start.

Our first quarterly conference is to be held here at Holcomb next Sunday, (Dec. 22). Bro. Floyd, our District Superintendent, will preach for us at 11 o'clock. The session of the conference will be held in the afternoon at 1:30. I hope every steward will make a special effort to be here. We invite all who can to come.

This will be an important conference as some of our assessments for the year are to be fixed. Reports are to be heard from the pastor, Charge Lay Leader, Church School Superintendents, and Presidents of Woman's Society of Christian Service.

We will have our service at Santa Sunday night. I hope we will have a good crowd as we missed having a service the fourth Sunday in November on account of rain.

A. W. Bailey, Pastor.

Ellett Lawrence in a recent issue of PAGES certainly did pay a fine tribute to his friend and his father's friend, Mr. W. M. Dubard, and a deserved tribute too.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

Community Christmas Tree, Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Musical program, Mrs. Walter Garner, Miss Donaldson.

Stunt offering Committee, Mrs. E. R. Green, Miss Lucy Webb Sharp, Mrs. Sam Starnes, Sr., Mrs. Jay Gore, Mr. Dexter, 12th. This offering to be received on the Square on Saturday 21st.

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will call for donations of clothing or food on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 18th after school. Have your package ready.

If you prefer to do so, bring any gift to the Agricultural Building now. Last minute gifts may be placed at the base of the beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the Square during the program Saturday evening. A committee will be there to receive it.

Rural Communities are urged to take in any gift, especially farm produce, to help all Christmas tasks. Rural delivery of tasks will be made by Mr. Devlin, 12th. City delivery of tasks will be supervised by Messrs. J. M. Talbert, Rogers Burt and Jack Batsan. Mrs. Ernestine Martin, chairman, and Miss Lucy Webb Sharp, phone committee member with a limited committee women from every organization in Grenada to pack the tasks.

WORD OF THANKS

I am deeply grateful for the many kindnesses shown me, and the many beautiful flowers sent me, as well as for the other evidences of kindness while I was in the hospital. My wife and family join me in these sincere expressions of thanks. May God bless you.

Sincerely,

J. L. ELLIOTT

It looks like the RFC is about to play out.

CAPITAL VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. McKnight and two sons, L. S. Jr. and Charles David, attended the State Tax Assessors' Convention in Jackson Thursday and Friday of last week. Miss Ouida Chaplin, deputy tax assessors, accompanied them on this trip. At this meeting the tax assessors received their Homestead Exemption law and it was stated that no previous application for this reduction would be recognized. New papers will have to be made out claiming this exemption.

When this party returned home they were accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Lott and Miss Audrey Moss, who had been in Jackson for several days.

NEW STORE OPENED

Horton & Horton, progressive Green Street merchants, have formally opened their new hardware store, which will be in charge of Messrs. Earl and Sanford Horton.

The building just north of the old Horton & Horton building, has been lengthened to about 125 feet, is fitted with modern display shelves and counter, fitted with modern lighting, and fitted with staple hardware items.

The firm, Horton & Horton, is strictly a family group, every one of whom is now active in one or the other of their stores. Mrs. Finley Horton and Mr. Ray Horton manage the new dry goods store; Mr. Finley Horton and the other sons Sanford and Earl (late with Model Mills) look after the new hardware department as well as the original general merchandise department.

Thus Grenada Grows.
